Workshop Description:

These one-day training sessions will educate Nova Scotians about the legal tools available to protect our air, water, land and human health. The workshop will be led by experienced lawyers from the Sierra Legal Defence Fund and the East Coast Environmental Law Association. Participants will receive an overview of the international, national, provincial and municipal laws that protect our environment and will engage in small group exercises. The workshops have been organized by the Nova Scotia Environmental Network with funding from the Law Foundation of Nova Scotia. Workshop fees include nutrition breaks, lunch and a binder of workshop and reference material.

Early Bird: $35 NSEN members, $40 non-members (After July 6: $45)
